

Short Paper 2.1: Summary Of Freire

gis 140 / sec. A / early fall quarter 2007-08 / chang

You have now had the opportunity to practice the skill of summary. It is time for more practice but this time on a more challenging text. Again, summarizing is about distilling or condensing a text, outlining a text's main ideas, putting into your own words a broad overview of the most important parts of a text. And summarizing is about transforming a text, digesting it, understanding what you need from it.

For this short paper, you will write a brief summary of Paulo Freire's "The 'Banking' Concept of Education." Your summary should be specific, detailed, focused on what you think are the most salient and interesting and understandable points, and express the overall invention of the text. Because the summary is supposed to be short and precise, get to the heart of the matter, make decisions about what is vital to include in your paper, and avoid unnecessary generalizations irrelevant to the text. Your summary should include and address the following:

- 1) A brief introduction to the text and its main argument
- 2) Two to three significant points, arguments, terms, or ideas
- 3) Support what you find significant with at least three well-integrated quotes or examples directly from the text

Turn in: 1-2 pages, typed, no title page, proper heading, double-spaced, stapled

Due: Tuesday, August 28
