

WGS 361 Exam #1

wgs 361 / winter 2016 / university of oregon / chang

You will have three take-home exam opportunities, which will consist of short answer and essay questions. Exams will be due (approximately) at the end of Week 4, Week 8, and Week 11. You must complete two of the three exams. Exams will be cumulative and based on the class readings, video games and other media, and class discussions.

Guidelines and Due Dates

The exam will consist of two short answer essays and one longer, more sustained essay. The two short answers will focus on course goals, terms, and important concepts. The long essay will present you with a selection of games or virtual world texts and ask you to apply your critical, analytical, and close playing skills to one of your choice. Here are your three prompts (complete all three):

Part I: Short Answer Essays (1 to 1 ½ pages per essay)

1. Using one of the Plog games as your exemplar (i.e. ImmorTall, fIOW, LambdaMOO, “My Body,” Depression Quest, Gone Home, or Gravitation), define one of the following terms: the magic circle, cyberspace, the heteronormative matrix, or representation.
2. Drawing on a key example from the documentary Second Skin, define one of the following terms: the immersive fallacy, flow, gender, or identification.

Part II: Close Playing Essay (3 to 4 pages)

3. Close play and/or close read only one of the following texts:

- Loved (Alexander Ocias, 2010): <http://www.kongregate.com/games/AlexanderOcias/loved>
- Every Day the Same Dream (Molleindustria, 2009): <http://www.molleindustria.org/everydaythesamedream/everydaythesamedream.html>
- Google Chrome Lady Gaga’s “Edge of Glory” Commercial (2011): <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bBZYncILdLE>

For this essay, generate an critical, academic claim for and analysis of your selected text. Suggested claims might answer questions about the definition of gender, heteronormativity, the critical potential for games, diversity in cyberspace, masculinity, or even the #gamergate backlash. Your argument must be specific, focused, and supported by close playing details. Your analysis must put at least three of the course readings into conversation with your selected text. In other words, use the course readings as research to help you write your essay and demonstrate what you have put into play during the first third of the quarter. You may incorporate additional research (one or two relevant, authoritative sources). Finally, your essay must do more than simply describe or summarize your text or respond personally or thematically.
